FAQ

Q: How to get reference to last item in list in C# I have an object like this: public class Class1 { public int Object1 { get; set; } public int Object2 { get; set; } } And I have this method: public void AddClass1Objects(List list) Class1 listItem = list[list.Count - 1]; // where List is a List //... some stuff How can I create a reference to the last object in a list? A: If you need the reference to the last object in a List, you can use List.LastOrDefault. If you also need the index, you can use List.LastIndex. Class1 listItem = list.LastOrDefault(); // or int lastIndex = list.LastIndex; var lastObject = list.Last(); If you're searching for this using a List, you can use the LastOrDefault method: Class1 lastClass = list.LastOrDefault(); (it returns null if the list is empty).
